

fly2help are joining forces with advanced flying training specialists Ultimate High!

fly2help's Flight Academy was originally established in a supporting role for their charitable wing the Foundation. Customers of the Flight Academy can enjoy the knowledge that flying the Chipmunk and Super Decathlon provides direct funding for the Foundation, helping to lift the horizons of others by encouraging those less advantaged to reach for the skies and to leave their worries on the ground for a day.

fly2help Marketing & Fundraising Director Mandy Pantall explained "We have been overwhelmed by the enthusiasm and interest in both the Flight Academy and our aircraft and as such we wish to reward our customers with easier accessibility to bookings and improved overall availability; both of which Ultimate High can help us to achieve. This collaboration with Ultimate High offers all of us an exciting future and the ability for fly2help to reach new heights."

Ultimate High, also based in the Control Tower at Kemble, is a highly regarded advanced flying training school, specialising in Advanced PPLs spin/upset emergency recovery training, Aerobatics and Formation Flying as well as hands-on Aerobatic and Top Gun Air Combat Flights for people with little or no flying experience.

fly2help's historic Chipmunk and versatile Super Decathlon will be joining Ultimate High's current fleet of ex military Bulldogs and high performance aerobatic Extra300, offering their customers, as well as our own, Experience Flights and Tail Wheel Conversion courses; all to the benefit of the Foundation.

MD of Ultimate High and Flying Instructor Mark Greenfield says "I am delighted that we are now working in partnership with fly2help to offer a Tail Wheel Conversion Course as part of our Advanced Training Programme, the Chipmunk and Super Decathlon are ideal aircraft for tail wheel conversion training and will compliment the Advanced PPL and AOPA courses already available and continue our aim to help promote safer flying."

All Flight Academy enquiries and bookings are now handled by Ultimate High; details can be found on the 'Contact Us' page at www.fly2help.org.
